

AN ARMY OF EASTER GIRLS WRITE FOR EASTER GIFTS.

Thousands and Thousands of Letters from Fair Readers of The Evening World Who Are in the Wage-Earning Ranks and Who Are Anxious to Win The Evening World's Splendid Prizes.

Oh, the letters that are coming to The Evening World from working girls who want to get their Easter outfits. Easter hats, Easter gowns, Easter gloves and Easter shoes for nothing!

There are thousands of them—all good, all written just as The Evening World asked to have them, all interesting and all breathing the sweet fragrance of Easter.

The mails are crowded with them and the working-girls' committee is going to have a jolly time assorting and passing upon these letters.

Forty-three of the writers will get handsome and expensive Easter prizes enumerated in the adjoining columns and forty-three working girls will be made exceedingly happy. Easter week has the glad news which will reach them.

An occasional letter departs from the usual routine of description which is all that is required and tells the writer's needs in an attractive manner. These are pleasant reading, but they are not what is wanted. The plain, direct, simple letter that describes the gown or hat or shirt waist or other article the girl would like to have for Easter is the sort that will count. No fancy writing is asked for or wanted. Here are letters of the right sort, just such letters as any young girl could write.

One young woman employed in a Broadway store writes:

"Here is an Easter outfit which I would like to have and which I saw at James McCreary & Co.'s, on Twenty-third street, whose advertisement appeared in The Evening World March 11. The cost is $25.00. The description is: For suit, a little gray serge silk-lined suit, skirt stitched, and Elton jacket, having a small square standing collar, $25.00. The hat is a black chiffon one being trimmed with a pink rose and foliage, $10. The shoes were simple black, $10.00. The gloves were gray, $1.50. I enter this description for the Easter outfit prize."

A young woman of Rutherford, N. J., writes:

"Here is an Easter outfit which I would like to have and which I saw at Rothenberg & Co.'s store, whose advertisement appeared in The Evening World March 11. The cost is $25.00. The description is: The suit is of all-wool Venetian and homestead, with new vest effect, with the 12-Aikon collar of stitched taffeta or fancy cloth. Vest handsomely tailored and lined with vest taffeta silk. The skirt cut with new pleating flare flounce over best percale lining. I would wish the suit to be black. The accessories are three-quarter length, the shirt waist of pale blue taffeta silk with bishop sleeves, and the sleeves show below the suit sleeves. I saw the shirt waist at Siegel-Copier Co.'s store at $2.50. White kid gloves from Stern Bros.' store. A black silk chiffon hat at $15.00 and $2.50 which I saw at the Siegel-Copier Co.'s store, all being advertised on the date mentioned above. I enter this description for the Easter outfit prize."

A young lady employed in an office in Broadway writes:

"The Easter outfit I would like to have is as follows: A black broadcloth tailor-made suit, plain and perfectly light-colored, which I saw at Siegel-Copier Co.'s as advertised in last Sunday's World, price $19.75; also a black silk chiffon hat, price $15.00, which I saw at the same store. I would like to have a pair of black lace 'Julia Marlowe' shoes, $2. A pair of light tan kid gloves, $1.50. I saw these shoes, gloves and hat at John Wanamaker's, the price of $1. I am a stenographer and enter this description of the Easter outfit that I would like to have. I am sure I am lucky enough to win a prize, but should be so fortunate the money would be more desirable than the suit. Remember the contest consists simply in writing to The Evening World and telling it what you would like to have for Easter—some gown or hat, or shirt waist, or gloves or shoes that you have seen in the advertisement of the contest—and if you describe it to the satisfaction of The Evening World's committee of the lucky forty-three for whom The Evening World will buy the articles."

Here are some more of the pleasant things wage-earning girls are saying about The Evening World and its Easter prize:

Miss AMELIA MARTIN, No. 142 West Fifty-second street, will be like Easter and Christmas, too.

Miss ANNE DOWNEY, No. 512 West Twenty-eighth street—I have heard so many girls who don't expect to work who they could try, too.

Miss SARAH FARDININDO, No. 131 Calumet street—It's nice to be a wage-earning woman to be able to try for this.

Miss A. M. CLARKE, No. 152 East One Hundred and Twenty-first street—Can't you think of money really try? Isn't it splendid?

Miss KATHLEEN BROPHY, No. 550 East Sixteenth street—It's a glorious offer—everybody should have it.

Miss ALICE SHERMAN, No. 220 East Thirty-sixth street—I don't believe you have any idea how many girls are going to send in answers.

Miss NELLIE FLAHERTY, No. 91 Charlton avenue—Everybody is so enthusiastic over it. It's well worth trying for.

Miss ESTHER BENNETT, No. 150 Madison avenue—I can't remember all the girls I know ever taking so much interest in anything.

Miss LILLIE GRAHAM, No. 238 West Nineteenth street—It seemed too good to be true that until we saw the offer every night.

Miss ANNA MARTIN, No. 217 York street, Jersey City—The girls are just at home every evening taking just about as much interest in it as they are.

Miss SOPHIE DEMPSEY, 36 Tenth avenue—I never knew anythink like it.

Miss CHARLOTTE KENNEDY, No. 212 West Twenty-ninth street—The girls all talk it over and they have a chance to earn $10.00 and $75 and the other prizes.

Miss MAY MCCLAY, No. 45 West Twenty-seventh street—Just think of a lot of good this offer is going to do, both to the girls who get the clothes and those who take the money.

Miss CORA BELLE HORTON, No. 130 East Forty-third street—If The Evening World could hear the girls talking during noon rest they would see what a hit the plan has made.

Miss KATIE MONACO, No. 211 Twelfth street—It's the nicest thing that has happened in a long time.

Miss EDNA MEYER, No. 175 Kingsland avenue, Brooklyn—Some of the Brooklyn girls thought they didn't try for the prize.

A CONTEST OF GOOD TASTE AND SHOPPING JUDGMENT.

$500 EASTER PRIZES $500
For Girl Wage-Earners.

THE CONDITIONS OF THE CONTEST.

Any girl wage-earner may compete for these prizes. Take The Evening World's advertising columns for your directory, go to the stores and find, if you can, an Easter outfit, a tailor-made Easter gown, an Easter hat or an Easter shirt waist like the one or as nearly as possible like the one you would like to have. Then write a short description of the same—you may obtain this description at the store—and give the price of the article, the date of the store's advertisement in The Evening World, and your own name and address, with the name and address of your employer.

Send this letter to "Easter Prize Editor, Evening World, P. O. Box 2,334 N. Y. City."

All descriptions will be submitted to a Committee of Five Working Girls selected by Mrs. Farley Hubbert Ayer, who will pass upon the good taste and shopping judgment of the contestants and make the awards accordingly.

The contest will close at midnight of Tuesday, April 2.

The prizes will be paid in money if preferred.

and found out they could, and they're all going to.

Miss EFFIE DAWES, No. 27 Ellison street, Jersey City, N. J., says: "I hope everybody will hear of it. It is too good a chance for any one to lose."

Miss MABEL CHRISTIAN, No. 182 Freeman street, Brooklyn—The more I hear of it, the more I like it. The offer is fine.

Miss DORA BATLAND, No. 531 East Eleventh street—Everybody out near our house knows of it, and they all say they are going to try.

Miss MARY MURPHY, No. 205 Pine street—It's a great thing, isn't it? I don't think I have to go to work to get it. I'm going to try, even if I don't get anything.

Miss KATE ROTHENBAUGH, No. 222 East Thirty-third street—The offer is just what I need. I'm going to try, even if I don't get anything.

Miss HENRIETTA ROSENTHAL, No. 132 Second avenue—Some of the girls are making plans for the dresses they are going to describe. I don't know hardly anybody who isn't going to try.

Miss ETTA McNALLY, No. 435 Grand street, Jersey City—The offer of girls who have sent in their letters already. Every one I know nearly is going to try.

Miss MARY HAUSER, No. 474 Second avenue—Some of the girls have two or three dresses planned already, and they can't make up their mind which one to send in.

Miss NELLIE RULLIVAN, No. 2118 East Thirtieth street—I have heard say anything about it is going to try. It's a great offer.

Miss HANNAH NEWMAN, No. 213 East Seventy-first street—None of us believed it at first. Then every one was talking about it, and we know it must be true.

Miss JENNIE ATKINSON, No. 275 East Fourth street—That will be just what I need, and having a $100 dress. Think of that!

Miss JENNIE SHIELDS, No. 320 West street—I think most of the girls will try to get a dress. I don't know how many Easter hats, and every girl wants one.

Miss ROSA ABRAMSON, No. 166 East Tenth street—The girls where I live talk about nothing else.

Miss LOUISE BULGER, No. 154 East Ninety-seventh street—It's going to be a success. I don't think of the things. I wouldn't miss that.

Miss JANETTE HOWE, No. 362 West Twenty-second street—Almost every girl knows a dress she would like to have. All she's got to do now is to send it in. I'm sure she will.

Miss KATIE McDOWELL, No. 2010 West street, Brooklyn—The one girl who's the $100 gown will be lucky, but there will be forty-two others nearly as fortunate. That's the best of it.

Miss HELEN NOONAN, No. 183 West Sixty-sixth street—The descriptions don't know a dress she would like to have anything or do any work, and see what you get!

Miss JOSEPHINE CLARY, No. 28 East Thirtieth street—I never knew an offer like it.

Miss MARY MAHONEY, No. 123 West Twenty-third street—Almost every girl is going to send in a description.

Miss GRACE ROSS, No. 214 West One

WOMEN LEADERS SUGGEST PLANS TO ERADICATE VICE.

Organizers of Coming Mass Meeting Give Evening World Their Views on Social Evil Question That Oppresses New York.

As exclusively announced in The Evening World a meeting of the women of New York to consider what further steps are necessary to the suppression of vice in this city will be held in Carnegie Music Hall next Sunday night.

The Evening World in its efforts to assist in this movement asked a number of prominent women interested for their opinions as to what they consider the best plan to end the dreadful condition. The replies follow:

BY MRS. E. C. STANTON.

"All our efforts to suppress the social evil are hopeless until woman is recognized in the canon law as equal in goodness, grace and dignity with bishops, archbishops, the Pope himself; we must have expurgated editions of canon and civil law, of Bibles, catechisms, creeds, codes, and constitutions, and of Paul's toilet directions as to covered heads, long hair, and sitting in silence and subjection, hanging on man's life for inspiration and wisdom."

BY MRS. J. S. CROSBY.

"My plan to effect a betterment of present conditions would be to abolish their chief causes—the unnatural crowding and poverty of the many and the new unnatural luxurious idleness of the privileged few. There is room in Greater New York for every family to have a fifty-foot lot for itself, while our crowded tenements are a disgrace to the city."

BY MRS. I. K. FUNK.

"This may be done through present organizations or by some new crusade—as God will."

BY MRS. J. FOWLER WILLING.

"The Carnegie Hall mass-meeting will call public attention to the monster iniquity, dooming thousands of our children, as they are trampled in mire under heavily loaded wheels."

"Every woman in temperance-house or mansion must be aroused to her personal loss in every girl that goes down. She must set her woman's will to use her woman's speech of pathos and pen of power to keep all women pure, demanding of the men who would touch their hands dirty for purity and honor."

GENERAL LONGSTREET,

The World-Famed Commander of Armies Made Well by Dr. Greene's Nervura Blood and Nerve Remedy. He Recommends People to Use It. It is the Best Spring Medicine You Can Take.

GEN. LONGSTREET, CURED BY DR. GREENE'S NERVURA.

Among the great central figures of the war, Gen. Longstreet stands out in brilliant military fame and glory. As are associated the names of Grant, Sherman and Sheridan, so will the pages of history associate the names of Lee, Longstreet and Jackson, comprising the six greatest generals of the rebellion.

Gen. James Longstreet, the last survivor of this illustrious group of leaders and commanders of the armies, lives at 1217 New Hampshire Ave., Washington, D. C., and although 74 years of age, is now hale and hearty, and, as all the world knows, has recently married a young wife.

In talking of his present good health, the General spoke in the highest terms of Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy, stating that he had been using this wonderful medicine with highly commendable results. In fact, so well pleased is he with its beneficial effects in his own case, that he has recommended it to all his friends, and to all the people who depend on him for health, strength, vim and vigor.

Dr. Greene's Nervura is not a patent medicine, but a prescription of Dr. Greene, 35 W. 14th St., New York City, the most successful physician in curing nervous and chronic diseases. Dr. Greene can be consulted at any time, absolutely free of charge personally or by letter.

It is a fact that the spring is the best season and easiest time of the year in which to get well. It is also an acknowledged and accepted fact that almost everybody needs and should take a spring medicine. Now therefore it is time for the sick to get well; now is the time to take Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy and be cured, as you surely will be cured if you take this grandest and most highly recommended remedy in the world. As a spring medicine to strengthen and tone up the nerves, purify and enrich the blood, invigorate, brain, muscle and body, as well as regulate the action of the stomach, liver and kidneys, Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy surpasses anything the world has ever known. In fact, Dr. Greene's Nervura is the ideal spring medicine, the remedy which outclasses all others, the remedy which everybody who is in need of it should have at this season—the one sure medicine upon which the people depend to give them health, strength, vim and vigor.

Dr. Greene's Nervura is not a patent medicine, but a prescription of Dr. Greene, 35 W. 14th St., New York City, the most successful physician in curing nervous and chronic diseases. Dr. Greene can be consulted at any time, absolutely free of charge personally or by letter.

Gen. Longstreet says:— "It gives me pleasure to add my testimony to the many others in favor of Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy."
